INVENTOR'S DISCOVERY.

Chemical Process Which May Effect Revolution in Paper Industry.

Products of a chemical process, whose development may effect a wonderful revolution in the paper industry of this country, are to be seen in the home of the inventor, Dr. Robert R. Roberts, in this city. Dr. Roberts' investigations for the utilization of the cotton plant in manufactures in the discovery which is now ready for public introduction. Cottonseed can be delinted, he says, in five minutes without injuring the germinating qualities of the seed and without affecting the value for the manufacture of oil.

In the delinting process all defective seed is cast out, thereby enabling the planter to use the drill machine in planting cotton, eliminating, in a measure, the enormous expense of chopping out the surplus cotton stalks. He claims, furthermore, that his delinting process will effectively destroy the boll weevil, no matter whether the eggs or larvae are laid in the germinating point of a beetle in the loose cottonseed.

The seed, according to Dr. Roberts, can be delinted for about $8 per ton. By the process cotton stalks can be converted in twenty-four hours into a fine fiber, similar to cotton in texture, which, he claims, will make the finest paper in the world. In addition to paper stock, various bi-products, such as alcohol, guncotton, nitrogen and smokeless powder can be produced in paying quantities. The time is not far distant, says the inventor, when plants for the manufacture of paper from both cotton stalks and cottonseed hulls, equipped with all modern appliances and machinery, and also fitted to save and utilize the biproducts, will be built and operated throughout the cotton-growing states of the south. The establishment of these mills will develop a new industry of enormous proportions and utilize the two waste products, which at present are of comparatively small value. It will check the inordinate and increasing cost of all grades of paper.
It is estimated that on an area of land producing a bale of cotton at least one ton of cotton stalks can be gathered. Upon this calculation the new industry could depend annually upon 12,000,000 tons of cotton stalks and at least 300,000 tons of cotton hulls as raw material for paper stock. This would furnish not only the home paper market, but also permit of the export of either paper or pulp or the finished products of various kinds to foreign countries.

District Officials Displeased With Grade Claims Findings.

Commissioners Say They Were Not in Accord With Evidence.

DAMAGES AND BENEFITS EQUAL

Corporation Counsel to Ask for Jury and Another Hearing-Action Taken Yesterday.

Declaring that the benefits to property abutting on Massachusetts avenue between North Capitol street and New Jersey avenue northwest, as a result of the changes in grade on that street, in connection with the erection of the new union station, were equal if not greater than the damage, although the grade damage commission in its appraisement did not report to that effect, the Commissioners of the District will direct corporation counsel to take the necessary steps to avail them of their prerogative of disapproving the verdict and asking for a jury to appraise the damages in accordance with the grade damage act. The Commissioners yesterday announced their displeasure at the result and declare that the commission in making the appraisements could not have given proper weight to the testimony regarding the increase in value of property on this block as a result of the grade work, and therefore, failed to properly appraise the bene-

Result of Commission's Work. The appraisements of this commission, which was appointed by the Supreme Court of the District pursuant to the provisions of an act of Congress in this case, amounted to $11,150, and were submitted to the Commissioners by A. Leftwich Sinclair, special counsel for the District. The latter reported that, according to the evidence submitted to the commission on behalf of the District, the benefits and advantages that have resulted to this property by rea-son of the establishment of the new union station a majority of the cases equal or exceed the damages due to the change of grade, assuming that the change of grade had resulted in a total destruction of the improvements. He also said that in several cases the claimants themselves gave were equal to if not in excess of the damages.

The matter was referred to Capt. J. J. Morrow, assistant engineer commissioner. He reported to the Commissioners yesterday that this block or square in question, is the first property to be considered by the grade damage commission in the vicinity of the new union station plaza.

Benefits Greater Than Reported.

"It is undoubted," Capt. Morrow said, 'that the benefits in this block and others n this vicinity, especially to the westward of the plaza, are great, and, in the opinion of the engineer office, much greater than have apparently been found by the com-mission. The evidence produced before the commission by the corporation counsel for the District showed an increase in value Notice is hereby given to all persons who may have claims against the "People's Savings Bank" of Washington, D. it was upon his recommendation that the Commissioners decided to instruct the corporation counsel to take steps to have a ury appraise the damages in conformity with the grade damage act.

FIRE HORSE INJURED

TRUCK COLLIDES WITH CAR WHILE RESPONDING TO ALARM.

An alarm was sounded about 11:50 o'clock last night for a fire in a closet at 1003 11th street northwest, occupied by Elsie Jenkins. The interior woodwark and some clothing NEW STATION ASSESSMENTS were burned. The flames were extinguished before any serious damage resulted. The origin of the fire is unknown.

While responding to the alarm the mem bers of No. 4 truck company had an exciting experience while passing over the cross ing at 9th and L streets. A southbound car happened to reach the crossing simultaneously with the truck, and it was impossible for the driver of the horses, Geo. R. McGee, or the motorman in charge of the car, Daniel J. Bouy, to prevent a collision. The result was that the team struck the trailer of the electric train and derailed it. The crash alarmed pedestrians and pas-sengers on the cars, and messages were ac-cordingly sent to the Emergency Hospital for an ambulance. The District veterin-arian was also summoned because of a serious injury received by one of the fire horses. The animal that was hurt was recently purchased in Baltimore and had been in the service but a short time. A serious wound was made in the left side of the animal near the heart, which, it is feared, will result fatally. None of the firemen or passengers on the cars was injured and the ambulance returned to the hospital. It was stated that the driver of the fire horses was speeding at about the rate that is usually tained at street car crossings, and that he did not see the car until it had cleare! the north side. A car on the north-bound tracks had stopped, and, it was stated, the motorman motioned to the motorman on the south-bound car to stop. The latter car did not comply, however, and the col-

Some of the persons who witnessed the accident sail they thought the motorman made an effor, to stop his car and that if he had not done so the car would probably have cleared the crossing in time to have prevented an accident. Summer Williams, colored. Living at 1325 26th street, and Florence Matthews also colored, whose home is at 414 Temperance Hall alley, were among the passergers who were in the trailer when it wes derailed. It were not injured. The truck was slightly damaged and was prevented from going to the fire. Capt. Beers, who was in charge of the truck, left the vehicle as soon as the ac-cident had happened and as soon as he was satisfied that none of his men had been hurt he looked after the injured horse. Policemen Lee and Carlin of the sec nd precinct made an investigation of the accident and submitted a report of it to police

Mrs. Bolch Caught Passing Bad Checks in New York.

BUSINESS MEN SWINDLED

SENT AWAY FROM WASHINGTON

Appealed to Her Husband for Help, but He Refused to Give It.

Special Dispatch to The Star.

NEW YORK, December 1.-The detective ense of Mrs. Ray H. Hazen accomplished vesterday the arrest of Mrs. Catharine J. Bolch, who was lodged in the Mercer street prison, charged with passing a worthless check on R. H. Hazen of 64 West 12th street, Mrs. Hazen's husband. Following her arrest, the police say, complaints of all sorts came into them from numerous department stores in this city and Brooklyn. The police also declare that the woman had passed nearly 500 bad checks, and that her profits from them must be in the neighborhood of $6,000. In August of this year Mrs. Belch came to the boarding house in West 12th street in which the Hazens live. After a short time she got Mr. Hazen to cash a check for $10, drawn in her favor on the Chemical National Bank by William L. Jones. It was drawn in a free, flowing hand like that of a business man. The indorsement by Mrs. Bolch was in a crabbed handwriting, quite different from that on the face. The day after the chec' was cashed she left the house and Mr. Hazen later on got the check back from a man to whom he had passed it with the information that it was no good. There was no depositor of that name in the Chemical Bank. Arrested on Broadway.

Mrs. Hazen has been looking for Mrs. Bolch ever since, and this afternoon saw her at 13th street and Broadway. She called a policeman and had Mrs. Bolch locked up. Her husband was notified and appeared as the complainant. The police then learned that there had been three alarms for the same woman recently in Brooklyn, and that several stores in New York also wanted her. Detective Willemse of the Mercer street station said that Mrs. Boich admitted that the check she gave Hazen was worthless and also that she had passed checks of no value in five department stores. The police got from each store a number of checks, all indorsed by Mrs. Bolch.

The police say the method followed in each case with the department stores by Mrs. Bolch was to order a small bill of goods, generally about $30 worth. Then she presented a check for $10 and got the difference in each. In each case she ordifference in cash. In each case she or-dered the goods sent to the house of the person who drew the check as if she were ordering for him.
The mysterious William L. Jones is said to be a lawyer in Brooklyn, but the police could get no trace of him today. Another person whose name was used was Louis M. Ebling, the brewer, the police sald. In the room Mrs. Bolch had in West 12th street was found a check book of the Chemical National Bank, Mrs. Ryan said, of the size used in business houses. Mrs. Bolch did not say how she got hold of it.

Evidence to corroborate part of the doings of Mrs. Bolch was got today from H. I. Bowden, manager of the Panama Railroad Steamship Company, in whose employ is Joseph Bolch, the woman's husband. Bolch has been with the company for years and Colon, which got into port from Panama early today.

In Trouble in Washington.

Mr. Bowden said that he had seen a leter from Mrs. Bolch to her husband, which announced that she and her daughter had got into trouble with the police in Washington through passing bad checks, and appealing to him to help them out. The letter promised reform, Mr. Bowden said, refused to help them.

Mr. Bowden said that he had inquiries from many New York department stores at to open accounts, giving her husband's "She is Bolch's second wife," said Mr.

Bowden. Detective Willemse said yesterday that Mrs. Bolch had told him that she and her daughter had got six hours' notice just a short time ago from Chief of Police Sylvester to quit Washington, and that they had got out after their release from deten-

She gave her address as 319 West 17th street, New York city. She was arrested at the request of the New York authorities, and the records at police head-quarters show that she was returned to New York. It is stated that she was arrested in connection with the passing of checks to which, it was alleged, the name of Senator Depew was forged. A girl who was represented as the daughter of Mrs. Bolch was also arrested. The mother and daughter occupied a room in a house on 6th street at The daughter was released a few days after her arrest, it is stated, and she was thought to have returned to New York with

A BUSY SESSION.

That is the Opinion of Representatives Who Are Here.

The last few days have witnessed the arrival of an exceptionally large number of senators and members of the House of Representatives, and the indications are that when the final session of the Fiftyninth Congress opens at noon tomorrow there will be a full attendance in both houses. There has so far been very little opportunity for conference among leaders, but most of them agree in the opinion that the session will be a very busy one. The House committee on appropriations has been at work for a week with the hope of having a supply bill ready for considera-tion at the beginning of the session, and while it has become evident that it will not be entirely successful in that direction, there is no doubt that it will be able to report soon after convening, and that the House at least will soon be engaged with the real business of the session, which is the consideration of the appropriations for the next fiscal year. Robbed by Confidence Game.

"I've been robbed of a dollar," Jerome Harris, colored, a resident of Centerville, Va., said, when he called at police headquarters last night. He explained that he book. Another colored man tapped him on the shoulder and called his attention to the incident, saying they ought to say some-thing to the finder of the pocketbook. It was made plain to him that the finder would have to give up "hush" money and the latter was spoken to about his find. Admitting that he had found the money and saying he was willing to share it with the two men who had seen him pick it up, the finder went with the two men to an alley. There, he explained, he was unable to make change and asked Harris what amount of money he had.
"I have a dollar here," the man from Centerville said.

"Give it to me for a few minutes," the man who pretended he had found money said, "and I'll give you two for it in short while.' countryman handed over the money and he was told to wait a few minutes.
When he grew tired of waiting he went to police headquarters and told his experi-
